THE ILLINOISAN'S ARE IN DAYTONA.

"Illinois Day," for Daytona, Daytona Beach and Seabreeze was held yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Harrison, on Daytona Beach. At 3 o'clock p. m. 140 had registered.

Each Illinoisan was supposed to bring in hand with him—a "Dutch treat," in this respect—and the rule was generally observed. These lunches were collected and spread upon a long table which had been arranged on the east porch of the Harrison residence, and about seventy people could be accommodated at one time.

After dinner a short program, consisting of music, reading and short speeches was rendered.

A jolly guest of Mrs Harroun presided at the piano, and a sweet-voiced "southern lady" sang to the delight of all, "Illinois," all joining in the refrain.

The Rev. Mr. Burns the new pastor of the Methodist church at Daytona Beach, made a short talk, felicitating those upon the happy occasion.

A feature of the meeting was a short talk by a Mr. Hudson of Lincoln, Ill., the oldest person present, being 91 years old. Other appropriate short talks were made by the Rev. Dana Sherrill, of Kingston, Mr. Calkins, of Wallington

Miss Belle Davies, of Pittsfield, entertained the assemblage with a recitation and Miss O'Conner, of Springfield, rendered a delightful piano solo.

Mr. Hudson, of Lincoln represented the oldest, 91 years, and Master Harper Autrem of Kenamer, the youngest, 10 months.

Mr. and Mrs Harroun gave all a cordial invitation to meet with them on March 1, 1910, and bring all their Illinois friends. He promised next year to have a building large enough to accommodate all who will attend.

Upon motion of Mr. Miller, Palmetto and Cedar streets, Daytona, a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Harroun for their interest in Illinois Day and for the cordial treatment of all present.

The day was brought to a fitting close by the assembled guests standing and singing to tingly "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and benediction by the Rev. Mr. Burns.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Fifteen hundred sailors of the battleship fleet landed this morning at the Navy Yard dock to take part in the Taft inauguration parade. Five hundred more will land before night.

A soaking rain today swamped flags and bunting but later the sun appeared Fair weather is predicted for Thursday

The depots are filled with incoming sightseers, every hotel and boarding house is overcrowded, and fakers of every kind are turned loose in the capital for a week. Booths are springing up at every street corner where all kinds of wares are being hawked.

Marching bands and troopers enliven the pre-inaugural days. Decorators are putting the finishing touches to the court of honor and stands. The test light effect last night gave a hint of the fine spread.

Several governors and gold laced-bedecked staffs were among the arrivals last night.

The last vestage of President Roosevelt's effects are leaving the White House, and an army of help is making things spick and span for the new tenants.

MONK-DAGO SCARE HORSE

A horse belonging to Sam Martin, of Fort Orange, took fright this morning at a monkey perched on a hand organ and attempted to break away from a hitching post in front of the R. S Maley store. He broke the bridle and scattered the wagon against the post at the first jump As he had been accustomed to blinders and no bridle with them could be readily procured he was taken from the shafts by the colored driver, but not before he had made several wild jumps in his effort to escape. It was a close call in a lively runaway.

WILLIAM NELSON CROMWELL.

This is the latest portrait of the man who probably knows more about the Panama canal purchase than any one else. Mr. Cromwell is one of the shrewdest lawyers in the United States and was a great aid to the government in the negotiations leading up to the purchase of the canal property. He is still the central figure in much of the talk in congress concerning that transaction.

Seabreeze News

SEABREEZE, March 2.—Mr. and Mrs. Futrell and Mr. Case returned Sunday evening from their automobile trip to Tampa. The report a splendid time. The itinerary of the trip was as follows: Seabreeze to DeLand, to Orlando, to Kissimmee, to Lakeland, to Haines City to Bartow, to Mulberry, to Plant City to Tampa. The distance from Seabreeze to Tampa Bay Hotel is 215 miles. They made the return trip from Tampa to Kissimmee in six hours' running time. Left Kissimmee at noon, Bumby stopped for luncheon and reached home at 7 o'clock p. m. The Tampa Morning Tribune gave quite an interesting write-up of the trip South which is reproduced elsewhere.

Dr. Hugh preached Sunday morning at the M. E. Church, Daytona Beach. Bishop Fitzgerald assisted in the service. A solo by Mr. E. E. Kibbe Walker was much enjoyed, as was also all services throughout.

The news came yesterday that Mrs. Brown's condition was somewhat improved.

D. Duffy made a business trip to New Smyrna today.

Visitors' arrivals at The Princess Issena were: Mrs. H. C. Hoff, Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Frances C. Apt, Mrs. Robert C. Smith, Cleveland; J. E. Rickey, wife and child, St. Paul, Minn.; and W. Schwendaker, Akron, Wis., who has just returned from a trip South.

The Town Council met in regular session last night. A large crowd was out, called by their interest in the question of cutting Ocean boulevard right-of-way from a to a point. However, if they expected anything out of the ordinary they were disappointed, as things were quite tame throughout. The routine business was hearing and ordering numerous bills paid. When this part of the proceedings had closed Mr. Bennett, President's legality, Attorney Oates handed the secretary a communication from Dr. Potter. The reading was listened to with close attention. A petition was read favoring the closing of Ocean boulevard, which was followed by a counter-petition from Ocean boulevard property holders. The matter on motion, was referred to the City Attorney to look up the law on the question. The meeting adjourned to Friday night.

An obscure mirror or any rule or whose, a piece of French chalk pointed so that it can be used to write and a soft, handling-tool are the necessities. Draw upon the mirror with the chalk any design or motifs you choose. With the handkerchief wipe the glass lightly until it is perfectly clear and the writing or design is apparent. Having all this practiced beforehand, show to some one and request that he breathe gently on the face of the glass, when he will see a picture of his future wife, for the design drawn will show very distinctly. This can easily be wiped off, and if breathed upon the design will be again visible.

Doings at Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, March 2.—The official board of the M. E. Church met Saturday night, and the question of enlarging the church was decided as follows: That a 20x30 foot extension with basement room be erected at the West end of the building facing on Peninsula avenue. The work will be done as soon as possible.

Mr. Larkin arrived from Canton, Ohio, last week and joined his family at Idlewild cottage.

Messrs. Bunte, La Bila and Silverstein returned last Friday from a two days' boat hunt up the Tomoka. They got quite a number of quail and other game.

Messrs. Beardsley and Silverstein made the trip to Baker yesterday in search of small game.

Dame is a challenge out that Charley Lutz can make the run from Daytona Beach postoffice to No. Nine, without accident, in less than any other driver. Their respective address box 352, Daytona Beach, Florida.

T. Long has opened a meat market in Seabreeze avenue.

Illinois Day, celebrated at the Hotel Van Brunt apartments, was a very pleasant session for the loyal workers. Flags were flying and everything presented a festive appearance even to the proprietor. Each State represented by its own guests. Ex-Governor Yates, who is spending the winter at Seabreeze, had accepted an invitation to be with the party, but had to excuse himself on account of indisposition, in one of which Mr. Yates was pleased to attend all the sessions of the company. A little song between Mayor Harrison and Photographer Smith gave an unexpected turn toward the close of the afternoon. It is reported that Mr. Smith succeeded in securing the house for the purpose of getting a picture and the Mayor assured that he must not; and so they retire on this difference, and things were lively for awhile. The report may or may not come out in the Mayor's report.

Walt Whitman's Prize.

Whitman's grandmother was a Quaker and the poet was born in Quaker simple fashion, according to the hope with his southern on if it called him to do so. Doings at Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, March 2—The official board of the M. E. Church met Saturday night, and the question of enlarging the church was decided as follows: That a 20x30 foot extension with basement room be erected at the west end of the building, facing on Peninsula drive. The work will be done as soon as possible.

Mr. Laiblin arrived from Canton, Ohio, last week and joined his family at Idlewild cottage.

Messrs. Banks, Laiblin and Silverstein returned last Friday from a two days bear hunt up the Tomoka. They got quite a number of quail and other game.

Messrs. Beardsley and Silverstein made the trip to Bulow yesterday in search of small game.

There is a challenge out that Charley Luce can make the run from Daytona Beach postoffice to No. Nine, without accident, in less than any other driver. Those interested address box 352, Daytona Beach, Florida.

E. Long has opened a meat market on Seabreeze avenue.

Illinois Day, celebrated at the Harroun House and apartments, was a very pleasant reunion for the loyal "suckers." Flags were flying and everything presented a festive appearance even to the passersby. Surf Crest was represented by nine guests. Ex-Governor Yates, who is spending the winter at Seabreeze, had accepted an invitation to dine with the party, but had to excuse himself on account of indisposition, in lieu of which the undaunted nine captured all the ministers of the company. A little scrap between Mayor Harroun and Photographer Smith gave an unexpected turn toward the close of the afternoon. It is reported that Mr. Smith insisted on entering the house for the puprose of getting a picture and the Mayor insisted that he must not; and so they set-too on this difference, and things were lively for awhile. The sequel may or may not come out in the Mayor's court.

Walt Whitman's Pride.

Whitman's grandmother was a Quaker, and the bard had been all his life used, Quaker fashion, to sitting in the house with his sombrero on if it suited him to do so. One day, with a friend, he entered the gloomy and half empty precincts of Trinity church, New York, and took a back seat in the obscurity and for a moment forgot to remove his hat or was probably just about to do so when an officious verger stepped up and requested him to take it off. Walt, a man of immense pride, not seeing fit to do so instantaneously or being very slow in his mental processes, was taking the matter into consideration for a second when the verger knocked the offending hat off his head. Walt picked up the huge felt and, doubling it together, smote the fellow vigorously twice or thrice with it on the head and slowly left the church, the red faced sexton following and threatening him with the law.

The Modern Seven Wonders

Daytona's Incomparable Ocean Beach.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and fastened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like floor; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of water-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.

Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with money veneers looking out upon her bosom, gamey boat fishes in requisite numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon her waves; watch that lobberly old white headed jo-boat paved a fat mullet, and that fish hawk st-p-glig upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their harnesses and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon her beautiful surface. Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Point Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies, and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live-oaks extend their giant arms across this magnificent road, forming an arch, and from these extend ed arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the illusion of a fairy path with silken draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps commands more nearly universal admiration and praise than does the attractive cottage. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are economic most rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering "What next?"

Streets and Pavements the Best and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose Eden for Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the finishing touches which have brought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Most old all the in for laying out of the streets with their wide margins of pavement the entire city becomes a great park.

Sand, Flowers, Birds and Fruits.

And as for pavements, pavements that look and act like granite,—where else between the oceans and southern seas are so many miles of perfect shell road? "Till some unheard-of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Seabreeze, Flowers, Birds and Fruits.

Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or coy Callot can may be to many things, the mere mention of "squirrels and flowers, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in thousands pupils and parched ears.

For every visitor with a spare "goose" there is a honey ready to come out and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and grunt into the mail, smiling furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers! Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round. In one yard rows of variegated hues predominate, another has a pendant for the poinsettia and the greatest ace adorer; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane.

The birds fill in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes.

The Fastest Autos And The Finest Out.

Here is where world's records for speed are broken with every recurring season. Autos the biggest, the fastest and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousand flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene. You will probably catch the sport and when you do the roads and the beach are yours. The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down to your wallet only for eats for the auto and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

Miss Bubie Jester is also a soloist.

Not Led.

"So she was led to the altar at last?" remarked the girl to Mike.

"Led!" repeated the bride's dearest friend. "Led! I fancy you didn't see her. She didn't have to be led. When she started down the aisle we couldn't have driven her off with a regiment of cavalry!"—London Telegraph.

Small Change.

"It's three years since I was in the city," said the stranger to the old Broad Ax dweller. "City looks the same."

"I don't find much change," remarked the waiter as he took up the dime that was left from the dollar bill. Puck.

Do you wish to find out the really sublime? Repeat the Lord's Prayer.—Napoleon.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Fruits.

Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or eve callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "squirrels and flowers, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare "goober" there is a bunny ready to come out and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and gnaw into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers! Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round. In one yard roses of variagated hues predominate, another has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane.

The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes.

The Fastest Autos And The Finest Out.

Here is where world's records for speed are broken with every recurring season. Autos the biggest, the fastest and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousand flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene. You will probably catch the spirit and when you do the roads and the beach are yours. The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down in your wallet only for coin for the auto and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

Not Led.

"So she was led to the altar at last?" remarked the girl in blue.

"Led!" repeated the bride's dearest friend. "Led! I fancy you didn't see her. She didn't have to be led. When she started down the aisle you couldn't have driven her off with a regiment of cavalry!"—London Telegraph.

The Eyes of the Camel.

One of the camels—the seven were lying just beyond the circle of the light—soon complained. Mustafa's Ahmed slipped away upon his duty. Presently I heard his guttural cawing to get the rascal again to rest, but the beast would not down and must be beaten, the boy meanwhile mouthing great curses. I wondered that a being so small should wield power to himself strike a creature like this with his fist, continuing all the time within reach of teeth and hoofs.

"I will tell the Khawaja," replied Mustafa, "a most curious and interesting thing about this."

Ahmed had mastered the camel and now came to his place.

"The Khawaja has observed," Mustafa continued, "that a child may beat and command a camel. It is not because the camel is small nor yet because he is timid; it is because of a wise provision whereby God suited him to the weakness of men. The camel's eyes are the magnifying glasses and increase the stature of his master seven times, whether he is obedient to the gigantic appearing creature."

In Parenthesis, Yes, I heard this superstition.—Norman Duncan in Harper's Magazine.

The Telltale Hand.

A writer in an English weekly declares that if we want to know what the other person is thinking we must look at his or her hands. Even unpractised fibs can, he says, be at once known. Long practice in self control will enable one to keep one's voice severely confined when there is nothing but indifference or cold dislike behind it. The eyes can be made to shoot glances which are not at all a register of the emotions. But the hands, it is asserted, are utterly beyond the control of those to whom they belong. Even people who hardly gesticulate at all and to keep the hands still is considered by the Anglo-Saxon a most essential part of good breeding—even these people can, it seems, constantly betray themselves to those more observant of the kind. The immortal Mallamey has put it on record that a woman's fingers or wrists will be discovered by the action of her hands. Of course it takes a practised reader to interpret what the hands are saying. It is not a case of "he who runs may read."

Keep Fun.

"This is early," said a farmer. "We now it for hogs. An excellent thing can for make to. Dogs calves, sheep, cows, opossums, hens and mules find that wears fur, in fact, is salable in the fur market. But hair is found to with your stuff into an intelligible mess. It is also used, I believe, in rope plaiting. The dog, the cows and the opossum yield a fur that, properly treated, makes a very handsome lining. But sable are employed in overcoats dolmen tippets, and they also serve to form the thumbs of cheap gloves. A queer thing about the fur business is that the furs must be taken in the dead of winter. The trapper must work under the cruelest climatic conditions. Only then is fur at its best. The dresser, on the other hand, who could work best in cold weather, must do all his work in the heat of summer or otherwise he would not be able to keep up with the changing fashions."—Exchange.

Works Both Ways.

"So you think it is an advantage to a man to go to congress for awhile?"

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "It gives the people in his own town a chance to think he is a great man to Washington and the people in Washington a chance to think he is a great man in his own town."—Washington Star.

"So do I," replied her hostess. "Vivisection is the motto"—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Eyes of the Camel.

One of the camels—the seven were lying just beyond the circle of firelight—rose complaining. Mustafa's Ahmed slipped away upon his duty. Presently I heard his guttural cawing to get the camel again to rest, but the beast would not down and must be beaten, the boy meanwhile mouthing great curses. I wondered that a being so small should without peril to himself strike a creature like this with his fist, continuing all the time within reach of teeth and hoofs.

"I will tell the khawaja," replied Mustafa, "a most curious and interesting thing about this."

Ahmed had mastered the camel and now came to his place.

"The khawaja has observed," Mustafa continued, "that a child may beat and command a camel. It is not because the camel is stupid nor yet because he is timid; it is because of a wise provision whereby God suited him to the weakness of men. The camel's eyes are like magnifying glasses and increase the stature of his master seven times, wherefore he is obedient to the gigantic appearing creature."

In Damascus, too, I heard this superstition.—Norman Duncan in Harper's Magazine.

The Telltale Hand.

A writer in an English weekly declares that if we want to know what the other person is thinking we must look at his or her hands. Even unpracticed lips can lie, as every one knows. Long practice in self control will enable one to keep one's voice sweetly cordial when there is nothing but indifference or cold dislike behind it. The eyes can be made to shoot glances which are not at all a register for the emotions. But the hands, it is asserted, are utterly beyond the control of those to whom they belong. Even people who hardly gesticulate at all—and to keep the hands still is considered by the Anglo-Saxon a most essential part of good breeding—even these people are, it seems, constantly revealing themselves in little movements of the hands. The immortal Mulvaney has put it on record that a woman's truth or untruth can be discerned by the action of her hands. Of course it takes a practiced reader to interpret what the hands are saying. It is not a case of "he who runs may read."

Queer Furs.

"This is cat fur," said a furrier. "We use it for linings. An excellent lining cat fur makes too. Dogs, calves, colts, coons, opossums, bats, rats—any animal that wears fur, in fact, is salable in the fur market. Bat hair is felted up with other stuff into an imitation skin. It is also used, I believe, in rope plaiting. The dog, the coon and the opossum yield a fur that, properly treated, makes a very handsome lining. Rat skins are employed in certain delicate repairs, and they also serve to form the thumbs of cheap gloves. A queer thing about the fur business is that the furs must be taken in the dead of winter. The trapper must work under the cruelest climatic conditions. Only thus is the fur at its best. The dresser, on the other hand, who could work best in cold weather, must do all his work in the heat of summer or otherwise he would not be able to keep up with the changing fashions."—Exchange.

Works Both Ways.

"So you think it is an advantage to a man to go to congress for awhile?"

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "It gives the people in his own town a chance to think he is a great man in Washington and the people in Washington a chance to think he is a great man in his own town."—Washington Star.

Her Motto.

"I think it is high time," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "for the people of this country to take a firm stand against vivisection."

"So do I," replied her hostess. "No north, no south, is my motto."—Chicago Record-Herald.
